WE NOMINATE

Thomas Sherman Dignan, Acting Director of New Jersey's Division of Civil Defense and Disaster Control, who for the past five years has been concerned with mobilizing and training a 252,000-person organization capable of coping not only with the hideous horrors of atomic attack but also with such disasters as last week's catastrophic floods. Although the dangers a week ago came down from the hills, and not in from the sea as so confidently predicted by hurricane-tracking weather bureaus, the strength and flexibility of Dignan's program were reflected in the performances of auxiliary police in the northwestern counties, the evacuations along the Delaware, the coordination between civilian and military agencies and the maintenance of communications in danger areas.

Under the leadership of this 52-year old veteran of World War II, Deputy Director of Civil Defense from the summer of 1950 until he was named Acting Director last May, New Jersey has found a way around "civil defense apathy" and has succeeded in enrolling one out of every 20 Jerseyites in the unique set-up known as "Disaster Control." Behind the plan's success lie the secrets of keeping people interested and of making them aware that trained volunteers, including rescue teams, "radio hams," drivers, welfare workers and clergymen, are just as desperately needed for flood relief, explosions, airplane crashes and railroad wrecks as they are for the dread possibility of "terror from the skies."

The State's program, a model for other states and the winner of a national award for over-all excellence, is not entirely an outgrowth of the atomic age. It traces its origins back to the efforts of the State Police in the 1930's and to the formation of the New Jersey Defense Council of which Dignan was chief of staff in 1940-41 prior to volunteering for the Army Air Force. In the opinion of Leonard Dreyfuss, Dignan's predecessor, Dignan was "largely responsible for the planning and motivation of previous Civil Defense plans," which have since been expanded to embrace a network of auxiliary fire services numbering 35,000 persons and a transportation pool of railroads, bus lines, truck companies and airlines.

A native of Yonkers, N. Y., Dignan was graduated in 1926 from Princeton University, where he combined his "major" in economics with three years of varsity football and the captaincy of baseball. He qualified for his master's degree in 1928 and a decade later, while serving as president of an experimental aircraft company, received his pilot's license. Subsequently active in the insurance and motion picture fields, and a consultant in the Office of Production Management in the early stages of World War II, Dignan divided three years of wartime duty between the Eighth and Ninth Air Forces, rising to the rank of captain and earning six battle stars as a ground-air liaison officer.

For stressing the total interdependence of every community and county in the State; for understanding that the trained, indomitable individual is still our primary hope in stemming either natural or man-made forces of destruction; for insisting that New Jersey must be ready and able to respond in any eventuality; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for Tragedy—and Reaction. Within a period of a short and starkly tragic hour on a warm, sunlit afternoon last week, three Princetonians drowned in the whirling, flood-fed waters that spilled over the Carnegie Lake dam at Kingston into the Millstone River. Two 15-year old boys set out on a canoeing adventure that ended in death; minutes later, an off-duty patrolman gave his life in a courageous effort to reach them before tragedy beeame certain.

For better than 48 hours, scores of volunteers from this and other communities (see below for details) carried out a search that eventually covered nearly two miles of the still-swollen river. Even before it had ended, however, emotions throughout the community that had at first been consumed with the tragic implieations of the aecident were channeled into thoughts of what a eommunity might do.

In a response that was as immediate and spontaneous as it was heart-warming, Princeton launched a drive to raise funds for Mrs. Barbara Ellis of 228 North Harrison Street, widow of Patrolman Billie D. Ellis, and her two young sons. Urgent suggestions that such assistance be provided eame from all parts of the community in this fashion:

A woman who lives on Snowden Lane came to TOWN TOPICS Saturday morning, asking that a fund be started and offering "whatever assistance several of us who have already diseussed the idea can provide."

A man whose home is on Province Line Road sent a sizeable eheek over the weekend, writing, "Would it not be in order to start a fund for the family of the polieeman who lost his life 'off-duty' last Friday? Please use the enclosed eheek."

That letter had just been opened when an officer of one of the banks telephoned with the comment: "I'm sure a fund is being started for Billie Ellis. How should my eheek be made out?"

Minutes later, Police Chief James Campbell, Jr., of the Township reported that a number of eontributions had already been reeeived at Township Hall. They were later delivered to TOWN TOPICS to beeome part of the fund.

From a woman whose home is on the Prineeton-Kingston Road came a telephone eall, stressing the point that "people at our end of the lake are particularly anxious to know what is being done for the Ellis family." One of the town's serviee eluhs not only established the faet for its membership that contributions were being reeeived but planned to look into other possible forms of assistanee.

In just two days' time, the fund had reached the sum of $828.07. When the printed word appeared to supplement word of mouth information about the fund, it was hoped that community-wide response would provide a sum that would help solve some of the problems in the long years ahead. For information on how to give, see above.

The Toll. Hurricane Diane eaused one hundred million dollars damage in the Delaware Valley just 12 miles from Princeton, ravaged the Northeastern states in a vicious form not felt locally, and yet exaeted the saddest kind of toll here — the loss of three

Directions for Giving

Contributions to the fund for the family of the late Patrolman Billie D. Ellis should be sent to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 664. Checks should be made payable to the "Billie D. Ellis Fund."

Gifts may also be left at TOWN TOPICS, 4 Mereer Street, or at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street. Police Chief James Campbell of Princeton Township has requested that one of these proeedures be followed and that contributions not be made at Township Hall.

The fund will be established in The First National Bank, with administration provided by TOWN TOPICS in the same manner that its Christmas Funds are handled until disposition is made in full to Mrs. Ellis.

What Is "Reasonable" Saving?

People answer that question in various ways: "Save what you can spare" . . . "Ten per cent of your earnings" . . . "Twenty per cent" . . . and so on.

OUR answer is: Start with ANY amount, then gradually raise or lower it until it fits in between today's budget and tomorrow's ambitions.

lives in drownings caused by the surging waters of the Millstone River.

Powerful, turbulent waters spilling over the dam at the end of Lake Carnegie overcame two boys, both 15, and within minutes claimed another victim, a youthful, beloved police officer of the Township.

The multiple tragedy occurred swiftly on Friday. Patrick Maloney and Kenneth Werkman set out in a canoe, as they had many times, to test the Carnegie waters. Suddenly the sheer force of the flood-tide waters erased their canoe against the concrete dam and spilled them into the treacherous, boiling swirl.

Two companions, Alan Ammerman and Benjamin McGuire, were also afloat in a rubber raft and watched helplessly as their friends were borne under. The foursome were Princeton High classmates and had played together this past year on freshman athletic teams. All were experienced swimmers.

Within minutes, several distress calls went to Township police headquarters. Police cars and Princeton's volunteer First Aid Unit sped to the scene.

At his home at 228 North Harrison, Township Patrolman Billie D. Ellis heard the sirens. Not expected on night duty for some hours, he set off for the disaster area.

DeWitt Boice of the First Aid Unit, one of the heroes of the tragic afternoon, launched one rowboat with Patrolman Ellis, while Captain Albert Toto and Henry Kenarney of the First Aid Unit rowed out in another, following the desperate hope that the two young men might be recovered in time.

As spectators watched, the boats neared the place where the fatal canoe was trapped by powerful suction. Both boats lost their oars and overturned.

Patrolman Ellis, reaching for the battered canoe, failed to gain a grip and struggled with the surging waters. Onlookers reported that he surfaced four times before disappearing from sight.

Volunteers Aid Trenton

More than 50 volunteers from the Princeton area worked long hours in Trenton last weekend on flood control and damage prevention projects as the Delaware River went on its worst rampage in history. The first contingent of volunteers, including firemen, reserve police and civilian defense workers, left before dawn Saturday morning, many of them in response to the emergency signal (three rings repeated three times) summoning them to the firehouses.

One of the major accomplishments of those from outside the city was assistance which was credited with saving the filtration plant for Trenton's entire water supply. Sandbagging operations proceeded until after the crest of the river had passed Saturday. Unpreventable damage to stores, factories and homes ran to millions of dollars, 3,000 telephones were out of service and scores of families were temporarily homeless as the river flooded to more than 30 feet above normal. There were, however, no fatalities.

Unable to help Patrolman Ellis, Mr. Boice aided Mr. Kenarney and Mr. Toto to the tossing canoe and towed them ashore. The normally peaceful river, reflecting the floods in tributary streams everywhere, continued to pour over the dam at heights as much as eight feet above normal. Both Mr. Toto and Mr. Kenarney were said by viewers to have come within a minute's margin of losing their lives. Mr. Toto required considerable oxygen as soon as he reached the river's bank.

A search operation then commenced, moved first by faint traces of hope, then by saddened determination, ever mindful of the agonized families involved. Overlooking the scene of the tragedy was the Princeton-Kingston Road home of Maloney's parents, Thomas J. Maloney, an editor of "U.S. Camera," and Mrs. Maloney. (See pictures, page 4, for scenes of the search for the bodies.)

At one time or another, every Township policeman took part in the grim work. Many Borough policemen helped both on duty and on their off hours as well. The First Aid Unit poured its efforts in, together with volunteers who saw only the human need.

One of Princeton University's crew launches was swiftly brought down lake, and then sheer manpower lifted it over the land point at the dam into the swirling Millstone. Volunteer emergency units with boats sped to the scene. Six units came from as far as Washington's Crossing and Trenton, only to be called back by radio within a few hours

It's New to Us

Scholar's Gown. We have now come to that season of the year when a mother reassures herself that none of her children has really grown very much, and surely last year's school dresses and slacks will do quite well. Statistical studies have shown that last year's school clothes are always hopelessly small. Besides, they are worn threadbare because of the strenuous nature of the academic life and who wants to wear old clothes back to school anyhow?

School shoes always seem to come first, after a summer of bare feet. Hulit's at 140 Nassau, offers its Stride-Rite at $5.95, soled in leather or crepe rubber in that good rugged brown. Some toes have sharkskin reinforcement in pattern, others are plain.

For girls, Stride-Rite has designed a red shoe, with one or two straps, and a choice of reds: oxblood or cherry. One of these red shoes is a ghillie that combines laced-up security with strap flattery. Saddle shoes at Hulit's are brown, blue or black with white, and there is a terrific white buck for boys or girls, and a loafer, no less, that starts at size 10.

Davy Crockett has a boot made of tawny glove leather, unlined and soft so that it won't blister. There's a hard outdoor sole and a three-inch fur tail flouncing out the back. Boots are about $6.95, price depending on size. They range up to size 3. Matching the boot, to wear after a hard day on the trail, there's a soft-soled moccasin with fur all around the edge (raccoon? fox? badger?) Moccasins are $3.95 and $4.95 and come in big boy's sizes as well as small.

Wear Davy Crockett sneakers and redskins will never hear a twig snap. These are tan with dark brown fringe that makes the eyelets look as though they had eyelashes. Fringe at the back of the sneaker, too and Davy's picture emblazoned on the vamp.

Fringe Benefits

Mothers who shop this fall for boys' or girls clothes will find that the influence of a certain King of the Wild Frontier has penetrated into the very fabric, so to speak, of young America's life. We noticed it especially in trimmings. Fringe, (leather, plastic or even cotton) is on everything, sometimes accompanied by a fur tippet, sometimes alone.

Fringe had a real purpose on garments worn by the old mountain and frontier men: it provided a run-off so that heavy rains wouldn't soak into leather leggings and jackets. But more important, perhaps —and we pass along this household hint for whatever use you can make of it—fringe provided the frontiersman with surplus leather that he could use for thong or patch whenever he needed to mend his clothes.

For $2.95. There are other sneakers at Hulit's in all sizes, colors and heights.

Disney character form the prow of some warm felt slippers for little children. Thumper the rabbit, Flower the skunk and Donald the duck have been fashioned out of colored felt, and hollowed out to receive a small foot. They are $2.95.

To wear under the shoes, Hulit's has the popular nylon stretch socks of last year. New this year are nylon stretch knee-length socks. We found them in navy, red or white, knit in a very fine cable stitch by Bur-Mil. There's another knee-length style, too, this one in cotton argyle. The plaids are bright, but conservative, and designed for teen-agers.

Kilties for Bairns. At Bellows, 208 Nassau, they put small Scots into kilts at size 3, an age when the brass kilt pin could almost be a diaper pin. Name your tartan; MacDonald, Royal Stuart, the ubiquitous Black Watch. If your child isn't quite built for a kilt, you may buy a gored skirt in plaids, too. Kilt sizes go to 14, by the way.

Starting with kindergarten, little girls' dresses come in plaids, plains, prints, mixes, checks and cottons, corduroys, synthetics. Jumpers of corduroy come in navy with impish red blouse. A plaid jumper is washable orlon and wool, e liked a jumper-style dress in a provincial print from Holland.

No -iron shagbark makes a dark plaid dress with saw-tooth edge on the sleeves. This is a mother-daughter set-up, and mother's dress is up in the front of the store with the juniors. Lanz makes another family-style dress from printed cloth in a red that's strong as a peasant. Gingham checks make a one piece dress with a white linen vest insert. Fabric is Swiss, dress is $10.95.

Jumpers appear again in subteen sizes, like the Black Watch wool and orlon with deep patch pockets and $10.95 price-tag. A classic school-dress for $7.95 is cotton plaid with a prim white collar. Rayon flannel makes a grey modified princess style dress with red rickrack trim.

THE SEARCH

Dozens of men, including rescue units from a wide radius, took part in the search for the bodies of the two boys who were drowned when their canoe (1) struck the dam at the end of Lake Carnegie, and Township Patrolman Ellis, who lost his life in a vain rescue attempt. (2) Four of the seven assisting boats which began grappling after the drowning are pictured, along with the Princeton University launch, which played the major part in the search because of its superior power. (3) The search continued for two hours at night, with more assisting squads from other towns providing lights and boats. (4) In the early Saturday morning hours, the body of 15-year-old Patrick Maloney was found. Pictured on the launch, left to right, are DeWitt Boice, Richard Panicaro, Stephen DiVaio, Norman Servis and Richard Steiner. Edward Swinnerton aboard a second craft is in the foreground. (5) The face of sorrow: Rocco Vendetti, who found his former fellow Township officer Billie D. Ellis, stares ahead, along with R. J. Casey and Jack Petrone, who with many others spent hours in the grim work. (6) Under Township Police Chief Campbell, the searchers formed a human chain on Saturday morning after the waters had nearly receeded in an effort to find the third body. Three additional companies appeared at nightfall, and searchlights were turned on. Throughout the day spectators had gathered despite police road blocks, watching with emotions that ranged from sorrow to morbid curiosity. On both Friday and Saturday, a helicopter from Princeton's Forrestal Laboratories participated in the search, charting currents and attempting to spot the victims.

The searchers, both organized and unorganized returned at 6 Saturday morning. The body of young Maloney was found within ten minutes, and little more than an hour later, Patrolman Ellis was recovered. Both were less than 50 feet from the boiling dam waters which had caused their deaths.

On Sunday, four students of St. Joseph's College here found the body of young Werkman while canoeing nearly two miles below the dam on the Millstone. The body was lodged on the bank between the two boats wrecked in the ill-fated attempt by Patrolman Ellis and the First Aid Unit members.

The tragedy was the second triple drowning to occur on the Millstone in the past two months. Earlier a Trenton father, son and uncle perished while spearfishing between Kingston and Rocky Hill.

The searchers were lent much grappling equipment by the assisting emergency units. As an aftermath, the Mercer Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol reported that during the operation they lost a yellow "Mae West" life belt. They asked that it be returned to the First Aid Unit here.

First Freshmen Due. The opening of the academic year is set for Monday when 172 "freshmen engineers" enter Princeton University as the vanguard of the Class of 1959. (For a complete list of school and college openings, see page 11.)

The orientation period, which was started by the Princeton School of Engineering, provides the students with a chance to get acquainted with their new program. "We have found through experience that since most new students are unfamiliar with the engineering approach, they frequently lose valuable time in acquiring 'know-how' while starting regular college work," Dean Joseph C. Elgin reported.

During the three-week period before the University officially opens, the freshmen will become acquainted with the faculty of the School of Engineering. In addition, they will study Princeton's research projects, including the James Forrestal Center and the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim Jet Propulsion Center.

In addition, the students will —Continued on Page 6

News of the Theatres

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

The weekend's raging flood waters struck hard at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, coming terribly close to knocking out the rest of the scheduled season through its surging waters.

"The Tender Trap," due for the present week, had to be cancelled entirely. And it is only due to the heroics of the Playhouse apprentices that the barn theatre will reopen at all, according to the theatre's public relations man Allan Lewis.

The young apprentice group, which in accord with theatrical tradition serves without pay in order to gain knowledge of the professional theatre, performed yeoman service in clearing the wreckage and cleaning the premises so that rehearsals and productions can continue with the exception noted.

The flooding Delaware, with the canal close beside, rose to the level of the stage in the barn theatre. The downstairs was submerged, destroying the flats and the shop, but the stage proper and the electrical equipment was spared.

The driveway is now being regraveled, and the first few rows of seats are undergoing a scrubbing. With the water rising so amazingly at the theatre, it's more than startling that the entire structure wasn't destroyed.

As of Monday, the condition of the bridge from Lambertville across to New Hope was such that only walking was permitted. Prospective theatre-goers should assure themselves that by Monday motor traffic will be allowed, or else plan on a few extra minutes in transit.

The show which will reopen the citronella circuit landmark after the delay will be "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," the Liam O'Brien comedy about a man with extensive family affairs.

In its first stock engagement, the comedy will have the talented services of the husband-and-wife team of Philip Bourneuf and Frances Reid. Direction will be by Kurt Steinhart.

Return To Life

Signs of life were showing this week in two of the community's theatres with announcement of forthcoming programs. The Garden Theatre reopens on Labor Day, September 5, with the showing of "This Island Earth," starring Faith Domergue and Jeff Morrow.

Richard Pleasant, of Bennett and Pleasant, managing directors of McCarter Theatre, has announced that "A Room Full of Roses" by Edith Sommers will launch the legitimate season on September 23 and 24. Patricia Neal will he starred in the play, which Guthrie McClintick will direct.

Mr. Pleasant also said that plans are being completed for the fullest season possible in the McCarter. He reported that musicals are also showing interest in Princeton performances, in addition to tryouts and road shows.

take formal courses in industrial development and surveying. The former course is one given by the chairman of the six engineering departments to provide incoming students with an idea of the fields into which they can branch at the end of freshman year.

Gets Suspended Jail Term. Arthur Ford, 21, of 429 Alexander Street paid a $25 fine in borough court this week when convicted of receiving stolen property. He was also given a 30-day suspended workhouse sentence.

Ford was charged with possession of a watch belonging to Ernest Hoagland, 24 Clay Street. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber of the Township presided in the absence of Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro.

In two traffic cases, Danny Fernandez, Coppermine Road, R. D. 1, paid $14 for an improper "U" turn and Frank Nini, Jr., 34½ Witherspoon Street, was fined $15 for speeding. Charges of careless driving and operating a car without his license in his possession against Robert L. Wood, 54 Leigh Avenue, were adjourned for one week.

Fatalities Lessen. Mercer County has had five fewer automobile deaths during the year to date than were recorded for the same period in 1954, Attorney General Grover C. Richmond has announced.

Until August 21, there were 19 fatalities in the county, as compared to 24 in 1954. In the state as a whole, there have been 11 fewer deaths: 451 against the 462 of last year.

In addition, Mr. Richmond reported, death took a state-wide holiday last week. No fatal accidents were reported for the six-day period from Tuesday through Sunday midnight.

Mosquitoes Under Control. Although a spectacular rise in Mercer County's mosquito population is threatening, Princeton has not yet suffered a heavy attack by the pests.

Standing water left by rains and floods in both fields and cellars is likely to serve as breeding grounds for millions of mosquitoes. County crews have been battling the threat with sprays of DDT and oil from the start of damp and humid weather on August 5.

Property owners who have large bodies of stagnant water on their land are advised to contact municipal authorities for instructions in dealing with the possibility of mosquito breeding. At present, however, invasion by the bugs has not been heavy, according to the health officers, David T. Bloke of the Borough and Dr. William Kleinberg of the Township.

League Urges Vote. The Princeton League of Woman Voters has urged college students to remember to apply for absentee ballots if they will not be at home on November 8.

The League reminds the new voters that they may vote if they have turned 21 years of age by the election date. They must register the fact at the Borough or Township Clerk's Office prior to September 29, however, and apply at the Mercer County Clerk's Office, Trenton, for an absentee ballot on or before October 31.

In order to have an absentee ballot counted, the applicant must state home address, the address to which ballot should be sent and the reason for not being able to vote at the home address. This application must be signed with the same signature used to register.

Steele Joins RCA Staff. Dr. Martin C. Steele has joined the Electronic Research Laboratory at the RCA Research Center in Princeton.

Red Cross Appeal

E. Roland Harriman, Chairman of the National Red Cross, has sent an urgent appeal to the Princeton Chapter to aid in the drive for funds for flood sufferers.

In two telegrams, Mr. Harriman pointed out that the organization had made an initial appropriation of $2,000,000 for evacuation, food, clothing, shelter and emergency care. He pointed out that even more will be needed in order to assist rebuilding and restoration of household goods.

Disaster teams from all parts of the country have been rushed into the nine stricken states, including New Jersey. Contributions to aid their work can be made to the Princeton Red Cross Chapter, 71 University Place. The organization has set up a booth on the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets for receiving contributions.

Governor Meyner, discussing his prospective move here to "Morven" at his press conference for weekly newspapers, was asked if, as a potential Princetonian, he would favor the candidacy for Mayor of his executive assistant, Raymond F. The chief executive reported that there has been some delay in the restoration of "Morven," and that he now expects it will be ready for occupancy as the Governor's Mansion sometime between January and June of next year.

he purchased at the box office (tel. 3539, evenings).

The production is the second and last prepared by the Players for summer consumption and easily shows that despite the weather, summer is a good time for the organization to work. Under Lorin Zissman, the abrreviated season has helped break up the doldrums and at the same time, both "Taming of the Shrew" and "The Doctor" have displayed more than the usual degree of preparation by the Players.

"The Doctor in Spite of Himself" is ripped off with enthusiasm by every department from direction and acting to scenery and costume.

Mr. Zissman as the woodcutter and fake Doctor Sganarelle has the fattest part of his Community Players' career, and his animated performance is indeed the best he has yet done.

The coaching by Henry Siegle has succeeded here and elsewhere, so that Moliere's comedy ought to be extremely funny.

But it isn't. There are just laughs, which smack a good deal of "boffos" and "yaks." A highly colloquial translation has been used, and the emphasis is on "modern" playing in the production.

This sometimes is a good thing in reviving "classics," but so far as "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" is concerned, something (by name of Moliere) falls by the wayside.

What is left is the so-called "stock comedy characters" who click off a rather limpid form of Hollywood dialogue. The humor becomes concentrated in the lines, and Moliere's underlying idea and treatment is hidden.

Mary Gonzalez gave her accustomed spirited performance as the charlatan-woodcutter's wife Martine, but there was something routine in port and performance. Thomas Potter as Geronte, "the old man," succeeded quite well. (And the "slapsticks" he manufactured for the production made quite a hit.)

Marylou Kelly could have used a G-string to coincide with her wiggly playing of the flirtatious nurse. Peter Nicolls did his best as the young suitor in a triple performance which he handled well.

AT NEW HOPE: Florence Reid will star with her husband, Philip Bourneuf, in comedy opening at Bucks County Playhouse Monday.

The lines given to Manuel Matinez as the servant Lucas were said faithfully, but more than any other single factor, they destroyed the original air of the comedy. The lines even made it seem inept at points.

Bert Karon and Toni Dugan made a pleasant duo as an old man and his page, while Betty Frohling performed as best one does as a mostly speechless heroine. Gray Ward, Deborah Chess and Kathy Kelly completed the cast.

Probably the above objection will be considered academic and "The Doctor" will be most enthusiastically received. And despite the negative feeling, the production as a whole, Mr. Zissman's work and the rapid pace are all assets in a Community Players summer production which merits a viewing.

MUSIC CIRCUS

"Guys and Dolls," the musical fable of Broadway based on assorted characters from the stories of Damon Runyon, is now in the midst of a two-week run at the Music Circus in Lambertville. It will run through Sunday, September 4, and will be followed by the first summer production of "Kismet," which St. John Terrell plans to run for four weeks at his tent theatre.

Featured in the current "Guys and Dolls" cast are Paula Stewart as Sarah Brown, the Salvation Army lass; Mitchell Gregg as Sky Masterson; Joan Mann as Miss Adelaide; Jack Goode as Nathan Detroit; Oggie Small as Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Kenny Ackles as Big Julie, Morton L. Stevens, Swen Swenson and Hugh Williamson.

The Frank Loesser music includes the hit tunes "Sue Me," "If I Were a Bell," "I've Never Been in Love Before" "A Bushel and a Peck," "My Time of Day," "Take Back Your Mink" and "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat."

Hospital Fete Report

A $7,640 net profit shown by the Hospitel Fete, held on June 4 at Palmer Stadium, will be used toward the work on "Merwick," Princeton's new nursing home.

Mrs. Harry Olson, general chairman of the fete, stated that the outing had a secondary profit, in that equipment was purchased which will be usable in years to come. This was the second year that the fete, planned as an annual event, was held.

Col. Saxton, a veteran of action in the Second World War and Korean War, graduated from West Point in 1936. His most recent tour of duty has been as Commandant of the Officer's Military Schools at Lockland Air Force Base.

A native of Chatham, N. Y., Col. Saxton tought at West Point from 1939 until 1943. He also served as senior instructor for the 55th Air National Guard Wing, which covers the Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia area. Col. Saxton holds a command pilot rating and will continue to fly at the McGuire Air Force Base while living in Princeton.

Y-Teen Carnival Planned. The various activities of the Y-Teen Clubs for Princeton's teenage girls will be on display at the Y-Teen Carnival to be held at the YWCA on Friday, September 9.

Penny-games, popcorn, soft drinks and door-prizes are among the attraction offered to girls who want to join the program. Each club and activity of the Y-Teen group will set up a booth for entertainment, as well as a display of its activities. Mrs. John J. Criscitiello is chairman of the fete.

Sign-up campaigns will be conducted for the special courses which the YWCA has to offer, including swimming, arts and crafts and ballet. It will also be possible to register for memberships in the YWCA and the High School Canteen at the carnival.

CHAMPIONS HONORED: Members and managers of the championship L.C. Bowers team are present as the 1955 Junior Baseball League trophy is presented to them for winning the title again. In front are Bruce Sandwick, Don Gallo, Carmen Stefanelli, Bill Stryker, Joe Nutt and Dave Britton. Standing are Arneld Skaar, Nick Kovalakides, George Cramer, William Smyth, vice-chairman of the Playgrounds Committee; Dick Knowles; Ray Bowers, accepting the award for the team; Carl Konover, Howard Page, Edward Swinnerton, Maurice Coffee, managers; and Leon Venier.

Sports in Princeton

All-Star Juniors Win. Two runs in the top of the ninth inning, the second extra session in the seven-inning game, gave the All-Stars of the Junior Baseball League a 6-4 triumph over the L. C. Bowers nine Saturday. The annual contest was staged on Brokaw Field to conclude the season sponsored by the Princeton Playgrounds Committee.

Jack Procaccino, a member of the team sponsored by Nassau Oil, was the winning pitcher, driving in the victors' first two runs with a double. Leon Venier's single chased two across for Bowers to send the game into extra innings. Nick Kovaiakides and Dave Britton shared the pitching assignment for Bowers.

P.A.C. Wins But Disbands. The Princeton Athletic Club has finally bowed out in the Bi-County Baseball League but only for personnel reasons and not because it was eliminated in action. The P. A. C. trimmed Montgomery Township, 4-1, Friday night but the was forced to disband because four members of its squad were called out of town for varying reasons.

Pitcher-manager Chick Davis, third baseman Bill Rodefeld, and outfielders Bill Chauncey and Robin Foster were all unavailable for further play, with Rodefeld and Chauncey missing the first playoff game. That left the team with less than the requisite number of nine players and a forfeit was the only choice for the remaining playoff games with Montgomery.

It was Davis, who steered the team to two straight first-place finishes, to whom Friday night's game was credited. A double by Walt Wells, chopped past the third baseman as he came in for a fake squeeze play with men on second and third, drove in the first two runs and assured the triumph behind Davis' good pitching. Don Drake, who had trimmed the locals twice during the regular season, was the loser.

The Princeton Township Braves worked their way into the finals by topping the Hopewell Raiders in two out of three games. Russ Watson of the Braves edged Jim Carter of the Raiders in a tight, 1-0 duel in the opening contest.

Carter gained revenge Sunday in the first half of a doubleheader, besting Watson and Harold Phox, 5-2. In the deciding encounter, Joe Catelli was the winning pitcher for the Braves, racking up a 5-3 triumph. Catelli actually threw a one-hitter but some loose play in the last inning helped Hopewell push three runs across.

The Braves and Montgomery were scheduled to meet for the season's championship this week on the high school field. The winner will replace P.A.C. as top dog.

Engine Co. No. 1 Is First. Tom Collins pitched Princeton Engine Co. No. 1 to victory over Mercer Engine Co. No. 3 in the firemen's league, winning 7 to 1. The triumph enabled No. 1 to finish unbeaten with a great 13-0 record and to wind up on top of Division I in the Firemen's League.

The "Firemen's World Series" has been tentatively set for next Wednesday, August 31, at 6 o'clock on the Marquand Park diamond. Belle Mead, winner of Division II, will be the other entry in the single game engagement.

Sam Lisi's bases-loaded triple was the big blow in No. 1's victory last week. Huck McCreedy was the losing pitcher.

Social Club Takes Two. Two more victories for Nassau Social Club last week kept it at the top of the Eagles Community Softball League. The leaders edged Frezees', 7 to 5, and then thumped RCA, 13-2.

Bucky Cupples collected two out of three for the Social Club, including a triple with the bases filled. McCreedy was the winning hurler; for the losers, Alf Perrine chipped in with three safeties.

McCreedy made sure of victory in the RCA game when he had a perfect day at the plate, getting two singles, a double and a triple. Jack Sweeny also had a perfect

All-Star Games Set

Saturday, September 3, has been set as the date for the annual All-Star games sponsored by the Eagles Lodge. A doubleheader will be staged at University Field.

If first place in the two leagues has been settled by that time, an all-star team will meet the champions. If not, two all-star teams will be chosen.

Nassau Social Club has a comfortable lead in the Men's League, while the Girls' League is currently led by Montgomery Township, closely followed by Gregory Buick and West Windsor. Results of the ballot: Jack Petrone.

day with a two-for-two performance.

In another game last week, the Sunbeams nosed out the Eagles, 4-3, to remain in second place. Harry Kahny picked up the win over Paul Parisot to raise his mark for the season to a highly-creditable 8-1.

Kahny was touched for only four hits as his mates pushed four runs across in the third to take an early lead. Mike Zeccola of the victors had a big day at the plate with a four-for-four performance.

The Jokers whipped RCA, 14 to 1, with Sam Nini the winning pitcher. Ralph Procaccino and Joe Nini of the victors rapped out home runs.

Rain has washed out all action in the Girls' League for the past two weeks. Action was scheduled for this Thursday and next, with make-up games if possible in order to determine the status of the teams in the All-Star game (see box.)

Football Rules Changed. Insofar as the football fan is concerned, three rules changes will be in evidence when the season opens next month. Several other minor adjustments have been made but they are of a technical nature and will not affect play as it unfolds.

The most important change will benefit the players themselves. The controversial substitution rule (which two years ago wrote the obituary of the two platoon system) has been liberalized, and now permits a player who was in action at the beginning of a quarter to return during that same period.

Accordingly, the brief intermission occurring at the end of each half in the past two seasons will be elliminated. The primary advantage of the new rule is that it permits coaches to withdraw players who may be slightly injured, give them a brief rest and return them to the game as soon as they are ready.

A player is frequently sufficiently shaken up in a jarring bit of action so that a brief respite is essential. Whereas the old legislation could mean he would be lost to his team for as much as ten minutes (time for as much as 25 to 30 plays), now he can be returned at will. In the case of one or two key players, such a difference in the rules can mean the difference between victory and defeat.

Greater Variety Allowed. Followers of the game will also enjoy the fact that a new rule will allow the player holding a potential place-kick to pass or run the ball. In the past, the man holding the ball as he placed one knee on the ground was considered to be "grounded." If he held it, it had to be kicked.

The change will apply to points after touchdown, as well as to placements attempted from anywhere else on the field. Unchanged is the rule stipulating that a blocked try for point cannot be run or passed over the goal line as a conversion.

It was in the still-incredible 17-14 upset of Pennsylvania which Princeton staged in 1946 that the Tigers seized a blocked place-kick and completed a pass for the point after touchdown. The following year, the rules committee banned such opportunism and the rule has stuck.

The third change elminates the "sleeper" or "hide out" play. Rarely if ever seen in Palmer Stadium in the modern era, it formerly permitted a player to lie down near the sidelines anywhere he wanted, just so long as he was onside. Unnoticed by the opposition, a possibility that can easily develop in small college games where spectators often line the field, the player was a good bet for a long, surprise pass.

Under the 1955 rules, all players on the offensive team must be within 15 yards of the ball when it is declared ready for play by the referee. Thereafter, they may assume any legal offensive formation they please.

One other change was contemplated by the National Rules Committee but did not prove feasible. Dr. Ellwood A. Geiges, a member of the committee and long a top official in the Eastern College Athletic Conference, had this to say:

"Considerable time was spent by the rules-makers in an effort to curb the use of the (sucker shift.) The coaches as well as the members of the rules committee were determined to correct this undesirable practice.

"New rules were suggested that would restrict the movement of offensive players, but in each case the entire offensive pattern would have been so dislocated that teams employing a legal shift would have been penalized. Consequently, it was finally decided that this was an ethical problem and the coaches and officials were given the responsibility for its solution."

TV Defense Show Monday

All Civil Defense and Disaster Control volunteers have been urged to watch the reshowing of "Flash of Darkness" on the Channel 4 television program "Medic" this Monday at 9 p. m.

Thomas S. Dignan of Springdale Road, acting state CD-DC director, termed the program a "vivid portrayal of the panic, looting, rioting and fear which might accompany a sudden all-out attack with every modern weapon, including biological warfare.

"The film is particularly instructive for volunteers serving in the medical and welfare services of any civil defense organization. However, virtually every phase of civil defense activities enters into the picture and I urge every volunteer in New Jersey who possibly can to view the program."

THE PLAYHOUSE

To Catch a Thief (Aug. 25-30) is another Alfred Hitchcock firecracker starring two of Hollywood's more popular stars, Cary Grant and Grace Kelly. Grant is cast as a reformed Cat Thief who is accused of jobs he didn't pull, while Miss Kelly is a rich sophisticate moving in the "giddy whirl" of the Riviera. Grant finally gets the jewel thief caught and the jewels back, with Miss Kelly as his reward, but only after several chases through the admirably-photographed Cote D'Azur countryside.

The Virgin Queen (Aug. 31-Sept. 3) handles history the way you'd shuffle cards, but Bette Davis contributes a remarkable performance as Queen Elizabeth, proving her screen talent once again. Her characterization of the queen's intelligence, willfulness, coquetry, frustration, ambition and diplomacy overshadows much else in the lush production, done in CinemaScope and color. The plot centers, naturally, on her relationship with Sir Walter Raleigh, played by Richard Todd. Joan Collins appears as Raleigh's true love.

the operation of New Jersey's point system, which is aimed at traffic law violation repeaters and has curbed 7,303 motorists over the past three years.

Announced by Motor Vehicle Director Frederick J. Gassert Jr., the new provisions include a warning letter and issuing of probationary licenses. The letter will be sent to a motorist when he has accumulated 8 points, putting him on notice that a subsequent conviction may bring him to 12 points which calls for a hearing on license revocation.

The notice will read:

"A review of your driving record shows that as of this writing you have accumulated . . . points under the New Jersey Point System. If and when your point score reaches 12 or more points, you will have subjected yourself to possible revocation of your driver's license privilege. If your driver's license means your livelihood, I feel sure you will want to give this matter serious thought.

"If you will examine and improve your driving habits, you will probably eliminate any reason for revocation action. Should you desire to discuss your record with a member of this Division, you may call at this office at any time during the regular office hours."

A reminder of the point system scale will be included. Points are assessed as follows: 12 for driving while intoxicated; 12 for involvement in a fatal accident if held responsible; 8 for leaving the scene of an accident; 6 for reckless driving; 4 for speeding and 3 for all other moving violation. Parking violations are not charged as points.

The new probationary licenses will be issued in borderline point system cases where, because of extenuating or mitigating circumstances in accumulating 12 points, a revocation of license may not be warranted.

The probationary license, like the red license now given to repeaters at the time their licenses are restored, will list the driver's convictions over a limited period, except for a drunken driving conviction which will be listed regardless of when it occurred.

The director will determine the period of the probationary license, while involvement in another violation will call for immediate revocation. All probationary licenses will be issued from Trenton and not at a motor vehicle agency.

full folds of wool jersey. One Jersey has a matching boat-neck blouse. The lined skirt is charcoal grey, $11.95, the blouse is $5.95. A set consisting of skirt, Bermudas, hat, and jersey blouse comes in grey and yellow or light green and white plaid.

Junior sizes will like Bellows' collection of Lanz cloths, like the royal blue and black wool challis. There's a striped cotton too, whose wide boat neck is squared off at the corner.

Girls' coats are chinchilla trimmed with velvet, or grey alpaca with a Black Watch lining. (One plaid is called "Grey Watch", of all things. Enough to start a border feud.) Girls will like a reversible Melton cloth with outside stripes of red, navy and white at $19.95. Bright red plaid jacket has a white orlon fleece lining in the hood. Fox trims a horizontally striped jacket.

Interesting coats this year for boys. Bellows has a striking surcoat in all-wool Melton with ribbed turtle neck that zips all the way up and folds over at the neck. At $15.95 in red or grey. Poplin makes a similar surcoat with a turtle neck and a removable hood that's edged with fur. It's $17.95. In sizes 4-12 there's a belted wool mackinaw, double breasted and immensely grown-up.

Very young boys will look their best in short wool pants of charcoal, grey, or brown and a tweedy matching jacket. Jacket can be charcoal too, if you wish. "Imp" clothes, these are, according to the label. Separates for boys have the Eton or Rugby finish (cardigan or collared). Tweed jackets for 6-12 are around $14.95. And of course there's a Black Watch vest.

Wool slacks at Bellows start at $2.95, and besides the wool ones, there are corduroys in tweeds, stripes or checks. Boxer slacks for smaller boys are Black Watch corduroy with jackets to match.

Corduroy appears again in a rainbow of long-sleeved sports shirts. There are orange, periwinkle, deep turquoise, aqua, gold and bright red, for $2.95 sizes 4-16.

Bluebirds from Disneyland. Bluebird shoes aren't made in Disneyland by Disney elves or anything like that, but they are sold there in one of the stores that line "Main Street, U.S.A." Bamberger's takes advantage of this to give away a colored booklet that describes Disneyland, tells all about its component parts and shows a detailed map. If you want this booklet, stop at the shoe department at Bamberger's in the Shopping Center and ask for one.

Bluebird is a child's shoe in the $2.95-$6.99 price range. There are straps, ties, pumps, and saddles of red, brown or black. Lots of patent leather, too, and some two-tone shoes. Bluebirds are made with Goodyear welts, and they are carried by Bamberger's exclusively in Princeton.

Up the escalator there are piles of boys and girls fall clothes, racks and racks of dresses. In the boys department we saw a collection of cotton jersey pajamas at $2.95, designed for cool fall nights and cold winter ones.

They are plain, round-neck, long-sleeved jersey tops that are conservative enough to wear for lounging and criticizing television programs. Colors are anything but conservative, however. There is pink, blue, charcoal, red or navy, each with appropriate contrasting color in a narrow band.

Girls who shop at Bamberger's will wear clan plaids—what else? Skirts are $7.99, imported, with matching vests. Jumpers are in full stock. We liked a blue one (gray, charcoal) with knit waistband for $8.95.

Dresses for school girls start at $3.99 and range to $6.99, with the emphasis on $4.99-$5.99 for school wear. There's a Black Watch quilted jumper with a matching long-sleeved white shirt. Its collar and deep cuffs are made of the plaid. Shirt is $2.99 for 7-14. Black Watch bags and hats are ready to go along.

A rarity in this fall's collection: a storm coat for girls, this one made of rayon and nylon Black Watch with grey mouton collar and slash pockets. Bamberger's price is $15, sizes 3-6x, 7-14. The smaller sizes have matching slacks.

Lots of those good blue gym suits on the girl's counter, by the way.

Twill for Bill. Boys steeling themselves to return to school will find a large and inexpensive collection of slacks at S. B. Harris, 32 Witherspoon. Dungarees, of course, from every manufacturer you can think of. And slacks of 8-ounce twill that were originally custom-made for Davy Crockett. They are tan with dark brown fringe all the way down the outside seam. There is a matching jacket that has fringe across its manly chest.

For dress, Harris has slacks in rayon acetate or gabardine, starting at $2.95. These are blues and browns.

When it rains, he can wear a rubber raincoat ($4.95) with matching sou'wester hat. These coats come in yellow, blue or coral. Boys who are outfitting from skin out, have a wide choice of briefs, shorts and undershirts at Harris. These are Fruit of the Loom products, and they start at 39c-49c.

School girls' dresses start at $2.95 at Harris. Some are tweedy cottons, like the turquoise with its deep collar of blue, or a warm brick red with red collar. Dan River Wrinkl-shed makes a dress of big red, white and black checks, so arranged that wide stripes seem to go down its skirt. Top is plain school-house red. A corduroy jumper comes in gold or red with belt and plain brass buckle.

Harris has lots of those Tomboy briefs for little girls: combed cotton jersey in red, yellow, pink, blue or white at 49c.

THIS IS A MENACE!

MAKE IT HARMLESS
There is a great danger in the menacing form of that old, disearded ice box or refrigerator that you may have in your back yard.
Every year children die from suffocation because they love to play in these dangerous cabinets. Here's what you should do if you see a discarded box in your neighborhood or in the junk yard:
Remove the door. It's the best way to make such a cabinet safe.
Remove the latch on the door by taking out the screws on the door plate.
Drill holes in the door and remove the rubber gasket.
OR
Tell the policeman in your neighborhood about this dangerous menace.

THE CHILD YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN!

News of the Churches

Progress Report. Construction work on the new addition to the Second Presbyterian Church has progressed so far that Sunday School classes will be able to meet there about September 18. A dedication ceremony is planned for later in the fall.

The new addition, behind the church on Chambers Street, will provide about 15 Sunday School rooms. The youngest children will have a suite of three rooms: one for infants, one for toddlers and one for kindergarteners.

Primary children will also have three rooms. The junior grades will meet in six different rooms that can be joined by pushing back flexible partitions.

When the partitions are out of the way, the room will serve as a social hall. Junior high and senior high school students will have four or five classrooms.

A new, completely equipped kitchen is at one end of the partitioned social hall, and a committee room at the other end. The choir will have a new rehearsal and robing room with a large window giving on Chambers Street. Another new feature of the addition will be a suite of two offices: a pastor's study and a secretary's office.

A committee of women, representing each department of the Sunday School and each organization within the church, has been working on decoration and furnishings for the new building. Mrs. William L. Tucker is chairman of this committee.

Family Picnic. Members of the Men's Brotherhood of the Rocky Hill Reformed Church have invited their families to a picnic this Saturday at Johnson Park, New Brunswick. The group will meet at the church at 1:30 p. m.

REGULAR SERVICES

Trinity Episcopal. Holy Communion will be offered at 8 a. m. this Sunday and Family Eucharist at 9:30. The Rev. Dr. John V. Butler will preach the sermon at the 11 a. m. service of Morning Prayer.

Princeton Methodist. The Rev. William J. Beeners, associate professor of speech at Princeton Theological Seminary will preach at the 10 a. m. service this Sunday. Children will meet at 9 a. m. for Sunday School.

First Baptist. A guest minister who is a member of the congregation will occupy the pulpit this Sunday. He is the Rev. E. J. Robinson, and he will preach at the 11 a. m. service. The church school picnic will be held next Thursday at Willow Grove Park, Pa. Those who wish to attend should notify Mrs. Ruby Campbell, Mrs. Wilma Kennedy or Mrs. Rosa McGowan.

Calvary Baptist. "Courage at Midnight" is the sermon topic for this Sunday at 11 a. m. The Rev. James H. Middleton, pastor, will preach in the Chapel of Westminster Choir College. Sunday School will meet at 9:45.

Christian Science. "Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for this Sunday. It will be read at the 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. services. Sunday School will meet at 11 a. m. There will be a Wednesday evening testimonial meeting at 8:30 p. m.

Lutheran of the Messiah. The Rev. Raymond Martin will preach this Sunday at 8:30 and 11 a. m. Bible class and Sunday School will meet at 9:45.

Kingston Presbyterian. Richard Stults, student at Princeton Seminary, will occupy the pulpit for two weeks beginning this Sunday at 11 a. m. Mr. Stults begins his senior year at the Seminary this fall and will be ordained next year. He has just returned from four with the Seminary choir.

This Sunday from 5-7 p. m. members and friends of the church are invited to a reception in the assembly room honoring Dr. and Mrs. E. Van Dyke Wight on their sixtieth wedding anniversary. The Rev. Dr. Wight is retired from the pulpit of the Kingston Presbyterian Church.

Union Presbyterian. The Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, pastor of the Witherspoon church will preach at the 9:30 and 11 a. m. services this Sunday in the Second Presbyterian Church. Music will be offered at 11 a. m. by the combined choirs under David York, instead of under the direction of Sara Harris as formerly announced.

Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. At the 11 a. m. morning worship service the message will be given by the pastor, the Rev. Yancey Lee Sims. "The Ability to Stand Criticism" is the subject. Stewardesses of the church will lead the 8:30 p. m. hour of prayer on Wednesday.

Society of Friends. The meeting for worship will gather at the Stony Brook Meeting House, Quaker Road, at 11 a. m. this Sunday.

St. Paul's Roman Catholic. Masses will be offered hourly from 6 a. m. to 11 a. m. in the auditorium of St. Paul's School.

Lawrenceville Topics

School Days Approach. Lawrence township public schools will open Thursday, September 8, with a total of 1,507 pupils anticipated. Teachers will report a day earlier for a general staff meeting at 9:30 a.m. in Lawrence Junior High.

Some 258 students are expected to enroll at Lawrenceville Elementary School, and with additional space nearing completion, last year's emergency classroom measures will be eliminated. Wings have been added at both the Lawrenceville and Eldridge Park schools, but with enrollment climbing and special classrooms required by law for retarded children, further classroom space will be needed in the near future, according to Dr. Harry H. Pratt, superintendent of schools.

A strike by carpenters during the summer delayed completion of the Eldridge Park addition, so that children will be unable to use the all-purpose room for a short time. The room includes the gym, cafeteria and auditorium, so that children will go home for lunch or bring box lunches until the cafeteria can be opened. It will be several weeks before the grounds at Lawrenceville will be graded and in proper condition.

Other expected enrollments in the township are: Lawrence Junior High, 399; Eldridge Park, 393; No. 4 (Baker's Basin), 70, and Slackwood, 387. Some 284 Lawrence boys and girls will attend senior high school, going to either Princeton or Trenton Central high schools.

High School students attending Princeton will not require bus passes. All students attending private schools must register their intentions of using a public school bus and be assigned to an established bus route. Students attending Trenton Central must obtain a bus pass at the office of the secretary of the board of education at the junior high building.

School Staffs. School personnel at Lawrenceville Elementary and Lawrence Junior High has been announced as follows by Dr. Pratt:

Lawrenceville, Miss Frances Ottobre, principal and fifth grade; Miss Betty Ann O'Donnell, kindergarten; Miss Ruth Endicott, first grade; Miss Mary Jane Bischoff and Mrs. Marion P. Stout, second grade; Miss Helen A. Titus and Miss Edith G. Yates, third grade; Mrs. Lyle H. Malsbury and Mrs. Dorothy F. Hullfish, fourth grade; Miss Janet Schrum, fifth grade, and Mrs. Mabel S. Tatler, sixth grade.

Lawrence Junior, Fred H. Combs Jr., principal; Mrs. Mary V. H. Newell, assistant principal and mathematics; George A. Abel, language, arts and social studies; Michael Angelotti, mathematics; James W. Brooks, health and physical education; Mrs. Florence T. Casterlin, commercial subjects and mathematics; Mrs. Carol B. Clark, art; Robert G. Donald, industrial arts; Mrs. Josephine F. Farina, language arts and social studies; Miss Margaret C. Ferry, health and physical education;

Also, E. Merrick Frances, mathematics and science; Mrs. Ida C. Ginnetto, librarian; John G. Guido, social studies; Mrs. Bernice P. Holcombe, language arts, Latin and French; Mrs. Mary Louise Holland, home economics; Theodore Jack, music; Miss Mary Lou Kelly, language arts and social studies; Robert C. Marince, music; Mrs. Helen W. McRae, language arts and mathematics; Mrs. Warren C. Nutt, general science; Robert P. Schremser, language arts and social studies; Mrs. Ruth P. Stuck, language arts and social studies; Louis N. Weltmann, science and mathematics, and Mrs. Elizabeth G. Yard, language arts.

Retarded Children's Class. A special class for trainable children who are severely retarded will be conducted at the Eldridge Park School, with Miss Dorothy Severs as the instructor.

Parents in the township whose child is eligible but not already registered, examined and assigned to the class, must register the child at the office of the superintendent of schools.

An examination by Dr. C. T. Jones, school psychologist, will be arranged. The special class will begin at 9 a.m. and hours will be determined in each individual case.

Municipal Notes. The Township Committee is considering a change in the zoning ordinance which would increase the total square footage of living space in homes in residential zones A-2 and B.

Under the change, the square footage required in a home would be 1,100 square feet, of which 870 would have to be on the first floor of houses of more than one and a-half story. The existing requirement calls for 768 square feet.

Lawrence personal property taxes are due September 15 and the Township Committee intends to publish the names of those who do not meet the deadline.

Storm-Hit Autos Spell Buyer Grief

Cars Damaged In Hurricane Sent To Markets Here

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14, 1954—Hurricane-damaged automobiles—each of which can be expected to give its owner trouble—are being shipped from New England States to Philadelphia for sale to unsuspecting buyers the Better Business Bureau disclosed yesterday.

The first shipment — nearly 200 and most of them new—arrived recently and is being prepared for marketing in this area. Additional shipments are expected.

"In cases where the damaged car has been repainted and the upholstery thoroughly cleaned and the sand, salt and silt blown from all crevices, the purchaser has little or no chance of discovering whether he is buying a hurricane - damaged vehicle," Gaggin said.

Salt water, he pointed out, can seriously pit gears, bearings and other vital mechanisms.

Printed in part from a 1st page article in The Philadelphia Inquirer Thursday October 14, 1954.

A FEW PEOPLE

encourage misrepresentative sales practices by their weakness for trying to get something for nothing. The law of averages won't take care of these people any more than it will those who fall prey to professional gamblers.

The person who must have transportation with a limited pocketbook can't afford to take chances and gamble when buying a car.

OUR NEW AND LATE MODEL USED CARS

written UNCONDITIONAL guarantee for 12,000 miles or 12 months covering ALL MAJOR PARTS AND LABOR. Older models for 30-60-90 days.

THE LOWEST BIDDER

It's unwise to pay too much but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much, you lose a little money—that's all. When you pay too little you sometimes lose everything because the product you bought was incapable of doing the thing it was bought to do. The common law of business balance prohibits peying a little and getting a lot—it can't be done. If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run. And if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better. — John Ruskin.

CRANBURY

A FRIENDLY HOME TOWN

Reminiecent of Colonial Times

 CONVENIENT COMMUTING—New York and Philadelphia via Princeton Junction (5½ miles).

 BY CAR — Dual highway (Route 130) and easy access to New Jersey Turnpike.

 MODERN STORES & SHOPS—large new super market a few minutes drive.

 FINE CHURCHES — Stutts Memorial (Methodist) and First Presbyterian (one of the oldest congregations in the United States).

 EXCELLENT PRIMARY SCHOOL — Recently renovated with large new addition — low pupil load per teacher.

 TREE-LINED STREETS with well kept Colonial homes.

 FIRST CLASS POST OFFICE.

 MODERN AIR-CONDITIONED BANK.

This delightful community is one of the oldest towns in New Jersey. In stage coach days, as a half-way point between Philadelphia and the Amboy ferry to New York City, it boasted three inns. One — The Cranbury Inn — is in its second century of continuous service.

Centered around Brainerd Lake — with summer swimming and lighted skating to music in winter — Cranbury is attracting the kind of folks who enjoy the advantages of modern living in an authentic Colonial setting.

WE NOW HAVE LISTED FOR FALL OCCUPANCY SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOMES IN A PRICE RANGE FROM $11,000 to $30,000.

There's Nothing Like Dealing With Someone You KNOW!

AND, OF COURSE, with someone who knows you. Someone who lives in the same town, the same community, and sees you as more than just another customer, another source of business. Someone who sees you as a familiar face, a friend, who probably knows you by your first name.

PHARMACY is a business that is based on friendship. When you know your druggist, you know also that you get the best—because he's more than your druggist; he's your neighbor.
